Developing Young & Off-the-Track Horses:

Structured cavalletti pole work and progressive grid jumping exercises form the cornerstone of our equine re-education programs. These carefully designed sessions build rhythm, balance, and coordination while encouraging correct muscle development and confidence under saddle. For young horses and off-the-track retrainers alike, this approach provides a safe, engaging pathway to strengthen foundations, improve rideability, and prepare them for their future careers. With consistency and patience, horses learn to think, relax, and move with purpose—developing into versatile, athletic, and confident partners.

Start today and watch them grow.
